NEXT PROJECT

Dear Tante Elisabeth: An Extraordinary, Ordinary Christian during the Holocaust draws upon a cache of over a thousand letters written by Jewish parents to their children and from the children to their parents. Sent through Elisabeth Luz, a middle-aged, middle-class Christian woman in Stäfa, Switzerland, these letters tell much about daily life, and elucidate the complexities of communication, denial, and silence during and after the Nazi years.

DIRECTORSHIP OF CENTER FOR HOLOCAUST AND GENOCIDE STUDIES

As the founding Director of the Strassler Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies at Clark University, it was my privilege to formulate the mission for the Center and to give shape to its activities and direction.

Program: Vision and Actualization

Developed vision of a Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies dedicated to doctoral training and undergraduate education, scholarly research, and public service

Developed and actualized multi-year strategic plans to grow the Strassler Center

Developed and managed annual budget

Secured support from key stakeholders at and beyond the University for each aspect of the Center's mission – teaching, research, public service – and at every phase of development

Envisioned and established innovative doctoral program in Holocaust History and Genocide Studies, with funding for all students (fellowship + research bursary)

Served as Director of Graduate Studies for first ten years

Established robust undergraduate Concentration in Holocaust and Genocide Studies
Impact measure: According to the Registrar, one-quarter of all undergraduate students at Clark take one or more courses offered by the Concentration every year.

Envisioned and actualized inter-departmental doctoral stream in Psychology of Genocide with student funding

Envisioned and actualized inter-departmental doctoral stream in Geography and Genocide with student funding

Established teacher education, public education, and public outreach as core Center activities

Hired, supervised, and mentored Center personnel

Program: Academic and Public Activities

Established a Distinguished Visiting Professorship and Distinguished Visiting Scholar Program. Visitors include Yehuda Bauer; Barbara Harff; Bob Melson; Amos Goldberg

First ever International Graduate Students' Conference for Holocaust and Genocide Studies
Triennial: 2009; 2012; 2015; 2018

Organized major international symposia and conferences every year on a range of topics, many the first on the subject ever to be held anywhere.
Established an undergraduate internship program for Clark students at Holocaust and genocide museums, memorials, and foundations
Established vibrant public lecture series, free and open to the public, drawing capacity audiences

Outreach and Institutional Collaborations
Participated in significant public service projects and instituted a culture of bringing scholarly expertise to bear on current issues
Served as a public voice in the media on Holocaust and genocide-related issues and fostered a culture of participation in public debate
Established meaningful linkages with national and international organizations (full listing in Year End Reports)
Established a reciprocity agreement with the Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies, Brandeis University
Established an academic exchange with the Danish Institute for International Studies, Copenhagen
Established the Israel Academic Exchange initiative to support Holocaust studies in Israel and to foster scholarly interchange

Constructing a Home; Launching Communications
Selected internationally renowned architect Julian Bonder to renovate an 1899 villa to house the Strassler Center and to design the attached Rose Library addition. Worked with him to actualize the plans. Bonder won seven architectural awards for his design. Returned to Bonder to design a Graduate Study Wing opened in September 2019.
Directed initial library acquisition plans for the Center
Envisioned, developed and directed public relations and media communications strategy
Instituted and authored the Strassler Center Year End Report for many years; later: oversaw

Fundraising
Raised the funds (30+ million dollars, endowed and annual) to support the above.
As Director, I was charged by the President with primary responsibility for all fundraising efforts. Center fundraising activities were thus independent of – but always coordinated with -- University development.

Additional Key Leadership Tasks
Chaired search committees
Chaired Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies Steering Committee
Chaired HH/GS graduate studies program
Forged robust relationships with academic and service departments across campus

PARTICIPATION IN THE PUBLIC DEBATE

2013 and forward: In this Internet age, it no longer makes sense to record participation in the public debate. A consistent stream of requests for information and comments yields a virtual presence in discussions about a range of issues. These are easily accessed through a web search.
